

RESEARCH AND INNOVATION

The faculty developed the following research areas:

- studying cultural anthropology, historical and toponymic portrait Astana (Ph.D. A.K.Abdina);
- Study the history of the capital of Kazakhstan - Astana on archival sources (dhs G.A.Alpyspaeva);
- Development lingvokulturologicheskikh problems in pragmatic terms (PhD, Professor R.O.Tuksaitova);
- Research in the field of intercultural communication (Associate Professor A.S.Albekova, Ph.D., associate professor A.M. Muratbekova);
- Development problems of Kazakhstan's statehood development in the XIX century (Ph.D., associate professor H.A.Aubakirova);
- consideration of problems of modern Kazakh language terminology (Associate Professor S.K.Kenzhemuratova);
- study of the problems of spiritual and moral education of the youth of Kazakhstan in the era of globalization (Ph.D., H.S.Abdildina);

The Faculty runs financed research topic "Innovative approaches to the modernization of the agricultural education system for accelerated development of agriculture of the Republic of Kazakhstan" (head doctor of history G.A.Alpyspaeva; performers: Ph.D. A.K.Abdina, Ph.D. R.O.Tuksaitova).

In 2012, the Research Center "Humanitarian Research and Educational Technology" (Head Ph.D. A.K.Abdina) was established, the purpose of which is a scientific and methodological support of innovative activity of educational institutions that solve the problem of modernization of education and improvement of professional training of teachers of higher educational institutions in the context of contemporary realities.

At the faculty works sociological laboratory (supervisor Associate Professor S.A.Mihnova), which conducts research on higher education, social processes, employment of graduates, methodical support of the educational process.

The research work of students is a continuation and deepening of the educational process and, therefore, an integral part of training highly qualified specialists. As part of the educational process, NIRS is performed by students in the form of abstracts, research papers, containing elements of research.

The faculty the scientific student circle "Atameken", whose work contributes to the development of civic activity of students, enhance their political outlook, ethno-cultural education and upbringing.

Scientific-theoretical, methodological level PPP meets all the requirements of high school and fulfills the main objectives of training courses chairs the Faculty of Humanities.

For all academic disciplines departments: history of Kazakhstan, philosophy, political science, sociology, Kazakh and Russian languages, religious studies, physical education developed and approved educational-methodical complexes (EMCD). Content EMCD, methodical support of the educational process comply with the requirements of state educational standards of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

The introduction of credit system of education has allowed greater use of interactive teaching methods, to improve the organization of independent work of students, improve the skills of the teaching staff. Faculty members are also working on the development of video lectures and conduct classes in groups of multilingual training.

Faculty members are actively working on the development of textbooks and teaching aids that meet the modern requirements of high school. Issued and successfully used in the educational process of teaching aids with the stamp of the MES: Russian language. Study on the scientific style of speech for students of technical universities, the author Associate Professor A.S.Albekova; Kazakh languages author Associate Professor S.K. Kenzhemuratova

The faculty has 10 classrooms equipped with computers, interactive whiteboards and projectors fixed. Each department developed a music library of videos, slides on the studied subjects.